

REAL VALUE OF GAME WARDENS

Testimony This Morning Before Investigating Committee Shows How La Follette Used Them.

STATE PAID FOR ALL THEIR LABORS

Interesting Testimony Given By Witnesses---Wheeler On The Stand Tells Of Money He Received For Stephenson Campaign.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 3.—That Senator R. M. La Follette used the game wardens, paid by the state to protect the fish and game of the state, as his political agents during his campaign for Governor and the state paid the bills for their work as though they followed their usual occupation, was brought out at the Senatorial investigation hearing this morning.

Appleton Warden
This interesting bit of information came out when Game Warden W. C. Haslam of Appleton was on the stand testifying as to what he did with money given to him by Game Warden Stone, Mr. Haslam said that such work was done in Senator La Follette's campaign at Green Bay and in his efforts to nominate J. J. Blaine the present state Senator and leader of the Anti-Stephenson forces ran for congress against J. W. Balcock.

Davidson's Denial
Governor Davidson is most emphatic in his denial of knowledge of the $1,200 which was given him by State Game Warden Stone and stated that the money is on deposit in a local bank waiting instructions from Stone as to what to do with it. Governor Davidson is most insistent that he has never received any contributions from any state officials for campaign purposes.

Wheeler on Stand
William G. Wheeler of Janesville, one of the men mentioned as receiving money during the Stephenson campaign, was on the stand this morning and testified as to how the $300 he received was disposed of. Part of the money was expended in Rock county and the remainder went to one of the Northern counties.

TO USE THE WASTE FROM PAPER MILLS

University of Wisconsin Experiments With Spruce Turpentine As Fuel For Gasoline Engines.

Madison, Wis., April 3.—The reclamation and utilization of one of the waste products of Wisconsin's many paper mills, an oil sometimes called "spruce turpentine," is the subject of experiments in the engineering laboratories of the University of Wisconsin. It is believed that the oil, which is a by-product of the pulp manufacture, can be used to advantage as a denaturing agent for alcohol in the various applications, and as a fuel for internal combustion engines, and experiments to determine its value have been begun under the direction of Prof. A. W. Richter of the department of experimental engineering.

Students Remodel Engine for Tests.
The three students of the college of engineering who are writing their senior theses on an investigation of the merits of both the crude and rectified forms of the oil as a fuel for gasoline engines are Roland Mueller of Milwaukee, Hugh E. Murray of Superior, and Herman Lachmund of Sauk City. For the purposes of the experiment they remodeled an ordinary gasoline engine, such as is used in shops and factories. They signed and installed an attachment to the engine consisting of tanks, pipes and valves through which the oil and alcohol are fed into the cylinder of the engine mixed with compressed air to form a fine spray, having the necessary explosive properties for internal combustion.

During the past three months, in addition to their regular college work, these three students have, under the direction of Prof. A. W. Richter, designed and constructed the additions to the engine which made possible the experiments. Two tanks were placed one above the other at the side of the engine, the upper feeding the mixed oil and alcohol into the lower, where it is put under pressure and fed by means of a pipe and valves into a specially constructed admission valve into which compressed air is conducted through another pipe. The compressed air unites with the oil and alcohol and forces it into the engine cylinder in a very fine spray. The amount of oil introduced at one time, and the pressure, can be regulated by the operator through the system of valves constructed by the student designers, and the introduction of the oil can be made at any desired point in the engine stroke.

How Oil is Obtained.
Samples of both the crude form of the oil, which is a red-brown, and the rectified, which is a clear, pale yellow, were obtained from a paper factory for the experiments. Tests in the chemistry laboratory show that fully 85 per cent of the oil is not dissipated at all, but is used in a substance closely related to the benzene used in Germany with alcohol to overcome the disadvantages of the thermal difference between the alcohol and oil as a fuel. Benzol is impracticable for use in America, as the illuminating gas works, of which it is a by-product, are so widely scattered that sufficient quantities are not isolated at any one place. Thus, the so-called "spruce turpentine" oil is being experimented upon to see if it may not be used in the place of benzol.

To Use Pine Stumps.
It is not definitely known what amount of the oil will be available for commercial purposes, in case the experiments prove it valuable. About 50 barrels annually is the amount obtained from a 25 ton mill using only stumps, which are poor in turpentine. What the output would be from mills using round timber, which contains the pitch and sap in which there is a much larger amount of the oil, has not been ascertained. As pine stumps may be utilized in making the oil, the discovery of a commercial use for the

NAPLES READY TO WELCOME ROOSEVELT

People of Ancient Seaport Were Awaiting at Early Hour Today in Anticipation of His Arrival.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Naples, April 3.—This famous old seaport of southern Italy was awfully early today in anticipation of the arrival of ex-President Theodore Roosevelt and his party. The distinguished traveler is assured of a hearty and enthusiastic welcome in which members of the Italian royal family, the American ambassador at Rome, the many Americans resident in Italy and the people generally will participate. In all sections of the city, and particularly along the waterfront, the American colors are much in evidence and many pictures of Mr. Roosevelt are to be seen. Orders have been issued by the customs authorities and steamship officials for a quick transfer of the baggage of the Roosevelt party from the steamer Hamburg to the steamer Admiral, on which they are to continue their trip to Messina.

NEW WORK HELPS ALL COMPANIES

IN CLASSIFICATION OF ACCOUNTS OF UTILITIES.

RATE COMMISSION SENDS

Pamphlet Containing Instructions For Classification to Every Utility Company in State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 3.—A heretofore unnoticed feature of the work of the railroad rate commission came to light today when it made public a printed statement in the form of a text of instructions to the public utility companies of the state. The pamphlet is being mailed to every public utility and contains the method of uniform classification of accounts to be used by the utilities. Some time ago the commission issued a pamphlet describing the various accounts to be used by the utilities. The pamphlet today is in reality a guide to bookkeeping. If any plant is not sure to what account a certain item should be placed, an examination of the booklet will give the information.

The issue of the pamphlet was necessitated by the large number of inquiries that came to the commission regarding different phases of the system of uniform accounts.

In Separate Pamphlets.
The definitions and directions embraced in this circular constitute the text of instructions to accompany such uniform classification of accounts of utilities," says the pamphlet. A separate book of instructions is issued for each separate class of utilities.

The commission sent to the desks of the members of the legislature yesterday afternoon the second volume of the decisions of the railroad commission. The separate decisions of the commission are first issued in pamphlet form and later all of them are collected and bound in book form. Each volume contains nearly 600 pages.

Work of Rate Board.
The railroad commission has been busy during the past few weeks gathering information regarding the Milwaukee street car service. This hearing has kept the members of the commission busy in Milwaukee.

No material changes are contemplated to either the railroad rate law, or to the public utility act at this session of the legislature. One bill to allow the surrender of franchises at any time and permit the company to receive in lieu thereof indemnity permits will probably be passed, but other amendments proposed are inconsequential.

He attributes his wonderful health to the serenity with which he takes life, to sleeping nine hours a night and to always keeping his mind occupied.

NO LICENSE ISSUE IN MANY CITIES

Will Be Fought Out During the Coming Week—News Forecast for the Next Seven Days.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., April 3.—News happenings of the week promise to be both numerous and interesting, so far as the national capital is concerned. In the national capital the heated debates in Congress over the tariff bill.

Early in the week ex-President Roosevelt and his party will leave Naples on the second stage of their journey to East Africa. Traveling to Messina on the German East Africa line, Admiral. The distance from Naples to Messina is 400 miles, and the trip will consume sixteen days.

Court proceedings of one kind or another will have a prominent place in the news of the week. At St. Louis the suit of the Government to dissolve the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey will come up for final hearing Monday before the full bench of the United States Circuit Court.

Another case of a somewhat similar nature will be called for trial at Portland, Ore. This is the suit of the Government against the Oregon and California Railroad Company to recover title to 20,000 acres of land which was ceded by the Government to the railroad company many years ago. This suit was brought on the ground that the company has violated the terms of the cession in disposing of the lands to others than actual settlers.

A criminal case that will attract attention is docketed for trial in the town of Lyons, N. Y. The case is that in which Mrs. Georgia Allyn Sampson is charged with the murder of her husband, Harry Sampson, who was a nephew of the late Admiral Sampson. Sampson was shot and killed at his home November 1 last, following a quarrel with his wife. The local opinion question given interest to the city and town elections to be held during the week in Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri and several other States.

One of the interesting events abroad will be the celebration Saturday of the 80th birthday of General William Booth, founder and head of the Salvation Army. Salvation Army branches throughout the world are preparing to unite in paying tribute to the venerable head of the organization, which was first started in 1865 and under the personal direction of General Booth has extended its operations into 34 countries and colonies.

TWO HUNDRED BILLS FOR HEARING IN THE SESSION NEXT WEEK

Committee of Legislature Have Posted a Long List For Members To Work Upon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., April 3.—When the members of the legislature return on Monday evening, April 12, they will find nearly 200 bills posted on the bulletin boards for public hearing during the week. The different committees are attempting to work the bill off. The noticeable feature of the hearings will be that the assembly committee will consider senate bills and vice versa. This indicates that the legislature is getting down to strenuous business, and that the bills that have passed one house are now being considered by the other branch.

Important Hearings
Some very important hearings are scheduled. The assembly committee on education will take up the bill on April 14 for the creation of a board in each county of five members, which will elect the county superintendent of the county for a term of two years. As this bill was reported on by the committee on education it is believed it will be recommended favorably. Assemblyman Viehahn of Watertown, one of the most prominent school men of the state during the past twenty-five years, believes it should pass.

Horse Doctors to Come
The committee on agriculture has before it for hearing on April 14 eight bills relating to the practice of veterinary surgery in the state. One of the most important of these measures, the second bill to be introduced into the assembly at the session, will be supported by Assemblyman V. H. Cady of Baraboo. The district is strongly opposed to the present veterinary law and a large delegation of farmers will come to Madison to support the passage of the bill. The Cady bill would not make the provisions regarding registration so stringent. Many petitions from that vicinity and other sections of the state have been received favoring the passage of the law.

Other bills relating to the veterinary practice have much the same tenor as the Cady bill. The committee on agriculture has taken a strong stand in favor of the testing of cattle and it is regarded as doubtful, if many changes will be made in the present law.

Election Bills Up
The Stewart bill to compel the use of safety devices on corn shredders will be given a hearing by the committee on agriculture April 14. The bill seeks to compel the owners and operators of huskers to provide devices for carrying the corn stalks to the rollers without the assistance of a man. Some of the statistics gathered by Mr. Stewart shows that over twenty-five persons are annually maimed of a hand or an arm and some are killed, during a corn husking season.

The McConnell bill for the rotation of names on the primary ballot will be given a hearing by the committee on elections April 13. Assemblyman McConnell recently said that he believed this bill would give every man who wished to be a candidate for office an equal chance and would deprive of a man. Some of the statistics gathered by Mr. McConnell show that in the first ballot of the primary the average number of candidates for a closed primary will be given a hearing the same day as the McConnell bill and the Cady bill for nomination and election at the primary is slated for discussion the same afternoon.

STANDARD OIL'S FINAL HEARING

WILL TAKE PLACE IN THE U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

AT ST. LOUIS ON MONDAY

Government Suit to Dissolve the Al- leged Trust Has Already Cost Over $4,000,000.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Louis, Mo., April 3.—The Government's suit to dissolve the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey will come up for final hearing in the United States Circuit Court here Monday, with Judges Van Devanter, Sanborn, Adams and Cook on the bench. The case was originally set for March 23, but at the request of the defendants was postponed.

All of the testimony has been taken and both written and oral argument will be submitted. The record of testimony to be reviewed is contained in thirteen typewritten volumes containing 25,000 pages and about 11,500,000 words. Of this there are 4,500,000 words of oral testimony and about 7,000,000 words and groups of figures in the exhibits.

The suit, which probably will go down in history as the most expensive ever undertaken by the Federal Government, was filed in this city in December, 1906, and the taking of testimony began the following year. The Government presented 150 witnesses and the Standard Oil Company 140. The complaint in the case, occupying 257 pages, including the exhibits names every individual defendant, besides the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and sixty-nine alleged subsidiary oil companies.

The individual defendants named are John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers, Henry M. Flagler, John D. Archbold, Oliver H. Payne, and Charles M. Pratt. The Government in its attempt to prove that the Standard is a monopoly operating in restraint of trade produced a mass of pipe line and railroad rate testimony, purporting to show that unfair competition existed. In its defense the Standard's most important line of testimony was that regarding the argument of 1882, in which it was that, instead of creating a number of competing lines under one management, the Standard merely gathered its own properties under a more concrete bond. The question of whether the companies which were in existence before the enactment of the Sherman anti-trust law in 1890 will be held as violators of that law will be one of the most important the four Judges of the Eight Circuit will be called upon to decide.

In the event of a disagreement between the four Jurists the case will be certified up to the Supreme Court. In any event the case will not be tried by the Appellate Division, as it has been arranged that in the event of a decision either way the case will be appealed direct to the Supreme Court.

It is estimated that the case thus far has cost about $1,000,000, and that it will cost at least another million, perhaps more, before it is finally decided by the Supreme Court of the United States. In the event of the Government's failing in its attempt to dissolve the company, the cost for printing, the cost for stenographers, and the referee's bill will fall upon the Government. In the meantime both sides are paying the bills.

CHICAGO COURT WILL SEARCH FOR MILLION

Receiver of American Guaranty Company Has Asked Judge to Investigate $1,000,000 Discrepancy.

Janesville investors in the American Guaranty company, in which accounts a discrepancy of a million dollars was found, will be anxious to know just what will be done concerning the discovery of the real cause of the deficit. The receiver appointed for the firm has been conducting a careful examination of the affairs of the company but has been unable to find just where the leak was. He has therefore started a detailed inquiry to find out where the missing money went. In his own investigation, Mr. Jones has found nothing that tended to show criminal liability on the part of the officers of the corporation, in connection with the disappearance of the cash.

The attorneys who are at work on the books of the defunct concern say the accounts show that more than $1,000,000 was used to pay the company's agents, maintain offices and pay Charles La Tour Furey the heavy commissions which he received on the company's business. Mr. Furey virtually wrote his own contract with the company, and the books show he received $100,000 a year for the last three years before his death in salary and commissions.

One of its methods which proved costly to the company was the agency system which Mr. Furey directed in conjunction with the American Guaranty Company. The guaranty company, whose stock was almost entirely owned by Furey, had a contract with the agency, which was also owned by Furey, to pay a commission of 4 per cent on all business secured by the agency. If an agent sold one of the company's guaranty contracts for $10,000 the commission was paid immediately upon the full amount of $10,000, although the holder of the contract might afterward make only a few payments and then allow the contract to lapse and become worthless.

The assets of the company on their face value figure $307,000.77, but the receivers say they will undoubtedly realize $150,000 lower than this when an attempt is made to dispose of some of the stocks, bonds and notes which go toward making up the assets. It is believed that when the matter comes up before Judge Kohlsaat he will decide that the contract holders be paid upon the net amount of cash that each paid into the company, and if this method is followed the contract holders will receive about 40 cents on the dollar.

Inheritance Tax Returns: County Treasurer A. M. Church made his quarterly return of inheritance taxes to the county today. The total amount accruing from this source in the past three months is $733.25, of which sum the county gets 40 per cent.

Heart-to-Heart Talks.

THE POWER OF A PURPOSE.

Years ago a famous criminal lawyer, one of the Breckinridges of Kentucky, went to a backwoods county seat in southern Indiana to defend a prisoner charged with murder.

Drawn by the fame of the orator, half the countryside heard the speech of the great pleader, a speech that was long remembered in those parts.

Among those who sought to congratulate the great lawyer was a shy, ungainly youth to whom the former scarce gave a glance.

If that Breckinridge had known the future!

The awkward youth was Abraham Lincoln.

Although the orator knew it not, his speech had determined the future of the boy. It was at that time Lincoln formed his intention to become a lawyer.

It was a long road on which he started.

He lacked almost everything—even education. But he had what was more than all else—a firm, fixed, unalterable purpose that would not let go. He begged that purpose to his heart and went on by a way he knew not, but whose end he knew.

So should every young man hide a great hope in his heart.

Cherishing that hope, its roots will strike deep into the very depths of his being. Sometimes, it may be, it will be watered by the tears of disappointment, but if the hope is well planted and well nourished it surely will blossom forth into the flowers of faith and hope.

And if there be a great faith and a great hope there will be a great effort.

That is a scientific truth.

Sometimes this truth is called auto-suggestion, suggesting possibilities to yourself. Through such suggestion you affirm to yourself over and over again what you purpose to do or be, and, lo! you awaken powers in yourself you never dreamed you possessed! And these powers will work for you day and night.

Hide a great faith in your heart.

It will force you on; it will keep you from temptations that would hinder your purpose, if you fall it will help you to rise.

The boy Lincoln got on that way.

DEEP WATERWAY DATA IS READY FOR CONGRESS

Engineers' Board Completes Report on the Portion Between St. Louis and New Orleans.

Washington, Apr. 3.—The engineer's board in charge of the survey for the deep waterways from lakes to gulf has completed its report on that portion of the work between St. Louis and New Orleans and another important stop has been taken in the great project.

This is the biggest stretch of the proposed channel, and the report, according to telegraphic advices received at the war department, should be here today. The survey from Chicago to St. Louis was completed three years ago. The stretch from New Orleans to the mouth of the Mississippi will soon be complete.

Although Col. Dix's dispatch as head of the engineers' commission in charge of the work merely announced the completion of the task, it is understood that the report will be highly favorable. It is reported that not only are the conclusions of the board favorable to the general project of a 14-foot channel from Chicago to the gulf, but that the board considers it practicable from a commercial standpoint.

Information has been received here that the board went even further in its conclusions and was of the opinion that a deep waterway of 20 or even 24 feet could be built with economy in preference to the 14-foot limit which is now proposed.

The report on the delta stretches of the proposed deep waterway is now all that is left before congress can map out its work. The national river and harbor commission of congress undoubtedly will urge speedy work when it brings in its report in December, especially if the Illinois legislature orders work begun meantime. Speaker Cannon is known to be favorably disposed toward the enterprise, and when he makes up the next river and harbor committee it is certain that it, too, will support the project.

He must be thin in order to get into all corners of the car to run the machinery. The examination for the place will be held May 5.

TRUTH

THE MIRROR IS THE EMBLEM OF TRUTH - IT NEVER LIES

It spares no one—the rich, the poor, the homely and the beautiful one—each and all accorded equal justice. It never flatters, it never underestimates. It tells the truth. Look at yourself in the mirror and ask the question: "Are my clothes up-to-date; do they fit right; do they really enhance my appearance instead of humiliating it?" Don't consider YOURSELF, for no man can properly see himself. Just criticize your clothes—look at them in the same way as you would size up the garments of a friend and render your verdict accordingly.

The MIRROR is OUR best friend. It tells to all what we ourselves would hesitate to say. It discloses beauty of fabric, grace of line and hang, and up-to-dateness of STYLE. And these are four of the most prominent features that every man demands who desires to be well dressed in the true sense of the word.

Learn the TRUTH from the MIRROR. If the CLOTHES you now wear are shown up to be deficient let us help you in rectifying it. OUR ART is done. We understand not only how to please the mirror by surface beauty, but we have learned how to make it ENDURE. Things that you don't see are just as carefully done as though the MIRROR exposed them, for quality with us is equal in importance to STYLE and FIT, and BEAUTY OF DESIGN.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

The remnants of the once famous tribe of Seminole Indians, which inhabited southern Florida in an early day, has for many years found refuge in the labyrinth of the Everglades, where they are seldom molested, and but few white men possess the hardihood to explore a territory given over to reptiles.

After the Seminole war the government attempted to move the tribe to reservations west of the Missouri river, and succeeded in transplanting the most of them, but some of the most hardy remained, and still occupy their old stamping ground.

They are fine specimens of the Indian race, tall and straight as an arrow, and live by fishing and hunting. Alligator Joe, a half-breed, is a leading spirit among them, and under his direction the great swamp yields a wonderful crop of alligator skins, more than 1,000 finding their way to market from this territory last year.

Alligator Joe goes into the water and mud, waist deep, barefooted, and pulls the reptiles out of their holes with a hook attached to a long pole, kills them with an axe, drags them to shore and takes off the hide, for which he receives $1.50 if the gator is 10 feet long. The supposition is that he earns his money.

An ambitious Episcopal clergyman in Punta Gorda conceived the notion that the Seminoles needed Christianity, and, as his duties were not very arduous, started out on a mission along that line. On one of his trips, two years ago, while travelling through their country on horseback he stopped after dark to camp by the trail. As he dismounted he stepped on a diamond-back rattler and the snake struck his fangs through the thin moccasins which he wore.

The wound was on the instep of the foot and therefore not deep, but nevertheless dangerous. He struck a match, killed the snake, and after entering the wound mounted his horse and rode with all speed to the nearest habitation, where he arrived partially unconscious.

The family hurried him off to the hospital at Fort Myers, where he was successfully treated, although partial blindness followed, from which he did not recover for a year.

The renowned gentleman is still engaged in the work, and has just returned from Washington, where an effort is being made to secure an appropriation of $20,000 to aid in civilizing the dark-skinned brothers.

Just how good a stimulus a Seminole will make, remains to be seen. The notion prevails, however, that when the government redeems the Everglades by a system of drainage, now in progress, that the last remnant of the tribe will vanish.

Coming out of this God-forsaken country, one night last week, was a party of land-hunters from central Kansas. They had been operating for a year in the sawgrass and swamp district of the Everglades, on a plan similar to the Mexican Rubber Plantation scheme.

Every investor secured 10 acres of land, a town lot and a chance to draw a quarter section. The land in its present condition is sold by the state at from $1 to $1.50 per acre. The value of the town lot would be difficult to estimate, as there are no towns, and not likely to be for some time. The soil is black mud, and will be very productive if the drainage plan is a success.

At Arcadia, 50 miles north of Fort Myers, and 50 miles west of the upper end of the Everglades country, another land party boarded the train.

This party had traveled 100 miles through the pine woods, since day light that morning, in a Cadillac and a Hummer machine—a good test, by the way, for automobiles, when the fact is considered that the country is a wilderness without roads or habitation.

Mr. D. K. Jeffers of Janesville was the leading spirit of the party, and half a dozen men from Chicago and the south were with him. They had been looking over a tract of 120,000 acres of upland, with a view to selling it.

This long-neglected country is now attracting attention on account of the drainage canal which the government is building, and it is possible that the future will show wonderful development, as the soil represents centuries of decayed vegetation. Some of the land still belongs to the state, but much of it is in the hands of speculators. If ever utilized it will be for garden truck purposes.

The exodus from the southern winter resorts, at this season, is like the stampede from the northern lakes the first of September. Most of the east coast hotels close the first of April, and it is difficult for the railroads to furnish transportation.

The East India Express arrived in New York last night with ten Pullmans, followed an hour later by the Florida Special in two sections. It is interesting and pathetic to note that many of the passengers are elderly people, who are seeking to prolong life by escaping the northern winter.

One of these old veterans, a New York Board of Trade man, was helped onto the train at Savanna Monday night. A daughter and trained nurse contributed to his comfort, but the journey was too much for him, and just as the train pulled into Washington, the next morning, his spirit went out to the life beyond.

As these heavily-loaded trains speed north and west in all directions, through hundreds of miles of the most desolate country, they afford about the only glimpse of life which ever comes to the natives, and in every doorway of the little shacks and cabins, women and children wave a salute, while the little station platforms are crowded with people who watch the sun rise and set for a lifetime from the same narrow horizon.

But these people are contented and happy, and would not change their environment if they could. Many of them are colored. They belong to the south, where they are understood, and where they receive infinitely better treatment than in the north.

One of the old residents of Florida, who employs 500 negroes, and who owned 125 slaves on his plantation before the war, said the other day: "The race problem will settle itself if you northern people will let it alone. We know the negro and we like him. He is the only reliable help we have in the south today."

When we find a bad nigger that we can't do anything with we put him out of the way, but when you find this kind of a nigger in the north, you go after the whole colored population, as you did at Springfield last year."

In speaking of the solid south, this man said that if President Taft carried out the policy outlined in his message there would be no more solid south. He believes that this is a white man's country, and that local government should be in the hands of white men who are able to administer it.

The old animosity between the north and south is rapidly disappearing, and the sections were never more united than they are today. The south needs protection, and moral and financial support, but it does not need interference on the race problem, nor will it be tolerated.

THE CANDIDATES

Taxpayers throughout the city should pay particular attention to the election on Tuesday next. William P. Carlo, the republican candidate for Mayor, is a man who would make a most excellent chief executive for the city. Honest, faithful and a business man of known ability, he stands for good government, for enforcement of the ordinances and for a business-like administration.

The republicans have also placed in nomination excellent men for the aldermanic and supervisors' board. In the first and fourth there are no contests for the republican nominees, although two independent republicans seek the coveted place in the first, made vacant by Mr. Carlo's resignation.

In the second James W. Scott stands for good government, for advancement of the city's interests and for a business-like administration of the city's affairs. His business is such that he has time to devote to the needs of his constituents and care for the affairs of the city.

In the fourth ward Dr. Pembor's nomination for alderman is meeting with general approval throughout the city. Dr. Pembor is a man who would honor the ward by being elected a member of the council, would watch after the interest of the taxpayers, being a large property-holder himself, and would make a most excellent city father.

In the fifth ward Edward H. Peterson stands forth as an independent republican candidate for alderman. He is a young man of known ability, a large property-holder, and would work in the interests of his constituents if elected. On Tuesday next the voters will make no mistake by electing him.

So the assembly has taken the bull by the horns and thrown an issue of defiance into the faces of the anti-Stephenson men who sought to throw an aspersion of fraud on his election to the United States Senate. Well, it will bring out more disclosures if they do, and more promising political careers will be blasted.

Despite the fact the county option law is defeated this season it is up to the liquor element to see that they reform their business so that such a law will not be a necessity two years from now. If that law passed the legislature it would mean that Rock county would be among the first counties in the state to go dry.

It is to be hoped the council will meet on Monday night and settle this question of the two liquor licenses that City Attorney Maxfield has complained of. Of course they intend to revoke them as the law says they shall, but the delay makes people nervous as to what their real intentions are.

A pilgrimage of the Janesville anxious on a Sunday when all are supposed to be closed tightly would make interesting reading in the court columns on Monday. If all the liquor men who run a side-door privilege Sunday were arraigned in court on Monday.

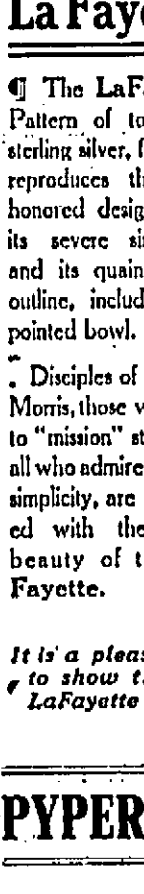

One thing every citizen wants to keep in mind on Tuesday next is the fact that it is election day and their favored candidate has need for their vote to swell his majority and get to the polls early and vote.

Heirlooms

Among the most cherished heirlooms of the Revolutionary Period, are the plain, old-fashioned teaspoons used by Colonial dames in entertaining the Marquis de Lafayette and other notables.

La Fayette

The La Fayette Pattern of today, in sterling silver, faithfully reproduces the time-honored design in all its severe simplicity, and its quaintness of outline, including the pointed bowl.

Disciples of William Morris, those who lean to "mission" styles and all who admire extreme simplicity, are captivated with the classic beauty of the La Fayette.

DOESN'T WANT "SALOME"

Boston Bars the Opera on Moral Grounds.

Boston, Apr. 3.—The opera, "Salome," which the Manhattan Grand Opera company intended to present at the Boston theater next Thursday, will not be given, because of protests from Gov. Elton S. Draper, Mayor George A. Hibbard, Bishop Lawrence of the Episcopal church, Vicar General Patterson of the Roman Catholic church, Rev. Dr. George A. Gordon of the Congregational Trinitarian body, ex-Gov. Curtis Guild and other leading citizens.

The clergy objected to the opera on moral grounds, and many of them consider that a presentation of "Salome" next Thursday would be a profanation of Holy Week.

Mayor Hibbard notified the lessees of the Boston theater, Frohman & Harris, that if the Manhattan company persisted in its intention of producing "Salome" he would instruct the police to act. As a result Oscar Hammerstein decided not to present the opera.

Zeppelin Returns in Airship.
 Friedrichshafen, Apr. 3.—Wearing a smile which fully expressed the victory of his wonderful airship over wind, snow and other adverse weather conditions, Count Zeppelin returned in his aerial craft last night after having been on a voyage which consumed two days' time. He landed safely on Lake Constance and the airship was snugly tucked away in its shed none the worse for its wild experiences.

"If you only knew what to expect," sighed the hostess; "but you don't and can't. Last month I went out and bought flowers for my party. Then my friends all sent me flowers—roses, carnations, some orchids. This month I didn't buy myself flowers, expecting the same, and, my goodness! There wasn't a single blooming flower in the flat. Not a one of them sent even a bud."

The Eternal Masculine.

A study of the trouser legs as seen in the photographs of our most noted men brings the smile of contempt from even the most disinterested, and one even wonders if anything could be uglier than the conceited folds of the clumsy, elephantine outlines that are there to be seen. Brooches, knickers and kilts are all far more artistic and healthy.—Tallor and Cutler.

Buying Pianos

There are many ways to buy a piano, and no matter how alluring or "picturesque" some methods may appear, when we come right down to bare facts, it's the actual value for the net price paid that counts—that's what you want to consider. The dealer who gives the most value for the least money is the one entitled to your business.

It really isn't hard to buy a good piano right.

The dealer who stakes his reputation on everything he sells must sell good pianos at the right prices, must give largest value. "All is not gold that glitters." Piano certificates and such, are not real money; if you think they are, try to cash one at your bank. Don't forget that any amount can be taken off, if it has first been carefully put on, and don't forget that it is the actual value for the net amount paid that counts. A piano is not big value just because the price is low; neither is a piano good just because the price is inflated.

Do you really think a dealer actually gives $50 or $100 discount for the solving of a puzzle so simple that it is within the range of a child six years old, or for any of the other absurd propositions?

In buying a piano you are after the tone quality—not guessing propositions. So test the goods, compare values before buying, and prevent regrets.

Call and examine carefully the NEWMAN BROS. PIANO before buying elsewhere, and then you will be convinced that all pianos are not alike, and will find out why some pianos lack quality of tone, and why others produce it.
